THE HARD PART OF HIRING

A posting brings you applicants

Then you read every one. The people best suited to the role are often happy where they are and never see the ad. A recruiter can find them, for a placement fee that is hard to justify on many roles.

WHAT WE DO INSTEAD

We go and find the people who fit

Our engine searches professional profiles by job title and by the skills, tools and designations your role needs. Everyone is scored against your must-haves before you see a name, and every summary is checked against the person's profile.

WHAT YOU GET FOR ONE FLAT PRICE

A ranked list, not a pile of resumes

Everyone who fits, ranked by fit probability. Anyone who misses a must-have sits lower, whatever their overall score.

The reason for every name

Each person is scored on every requirement: Met, Not met or Not stated, with the evidence from their profile beside it.

Questions for the first call

Three questions per person, covering what the profile can't answer, so your first conversation is a useful one.

New people for 60 days

The search runs again every night. Anyone new who fits is ranked in and emailed to you, until you mark the role filled.
